Why the Get-Together? Op-eds, research publications and even newsletters such as The Monthly Barometer are useful, informative and at best insightful; but they can only go so far.... They often provoke the desire to ask a question, to challenge an assumption, but they can’t reply and they can't argue! Only personalized quality gatherings respond to this need. They are rare and therefore increasingly valued: in our ever-more digital and virtual world, the need for face-to-face interaction has never been greater.

In the sometimes overwhelming complexity of our “hyper-connected”, fast-paced world, it is apparent that the answers to such questions as: “What to do?” “How to invest?” “Where and when?” “With whom?” “For which purpose?” are best sought out in unconventional places. Our Get-Together offers just such a place, affording its guests physical exposure to diverse individuals and ideas, based on the “strength of weak ties” and serendipitous encounters.

How can you participate in the programme? Friendliness and informality define the gathering, which combines thinking and learning with mindfulness and discovery. The Get-Together amounts to an ideas fair. The programme is intentionally dense so that you have an abundance of choice and sessions remain small and intimate. To allow maximum interaction between our guests, all elements of the programme are structured as conversations. These are kicked off by an introduction to the issue provided by a prominent thinker or practitioner, but everybody is a speaker. We count on you to stir the pot!

We follow the Chatham House rules: while conscious that today’s world is fully transparent, we ask you to remain discrete and not to disseminate the content of The Get-Together. This will guarantee that our conversations remain frank and direct. Provided it is not content or people related, you can of course be as enthusiastic as you wish on Twitter, Facebook and the like!

Why do we go outside? First and foremost because outdoor activities are fun and a great way to spend time with old friends and make new ones. Furthermore, they will benefit the quality of the meeting - research in neuroscience and medicine makes it abundantly clear that exercise provides unparalleled stimulus, physiologically rendering our brains more ready, willing, and able to learn. Lastly, it would be a waste not to take advantage of the exceptional natural environment that Chamonix offers!

Important caveats
Only fully confirmed names are listed below.
Outside activities are planned as indicated, but they may change depending on the weather.

17.35 – 18.15
Keynote address
The power of gratitude
Majestic Congress Center
Room Michel Payot (Main Stage)
Gratitude doesn’t always come easily, but is good for us all. Research suggests that practising gratitude and, better still, making it a “routine”, raises our happiness and brings out the best in those around us. This keynote begins with an expression of gratitude towards Nature’s beauty that can heal mind, body and soul by inspiring wonder and awe.
Dan Schechter, Managing Director, LEK CONSULTING – United States
Louie Schwartzberg, Founder, MOVING ART – United States

18.15 – 18.45
Keynote address
Making happier societies
Majestic Congress Center
Room Michel Payot (Main Stage)
Governments around the world are increasingly aware that the happiness of their country is not measured by the wealth of their nation, but rather by the quality of life as their citizens experience it. In short: money is not the whole story. The “father” of happiness economics who has argued for years that happiness is a better measure of success than income and that governments do not do enough to ensure the happiness of their citizens shares with the participants of the Get-Together his ideas and policy suggestions of what it takes to make societies happier.
Lord (Richard) Layard, Professor Emeritus, THE LONDON SCHOOL OF ECONOMICS AND POLITICAL SCIENCE – United Kingdom

19.30 – 21.30
Working dinners
Top-level sporting performance – what investors and decision-makers can learn from it
Restaurant Le Cap Horn
Private room
The mental, physical and logistical preparation needed to achieve sporting excellence and become number 1 is a gruelling affair. Like in all activities where it is the relative, not the absolute performance, that counts, this process harbours some important lessons for the investment and business community. Some of the best in their respective fields share their insights.
Franck Cammas, Skipper, GROUPAMA TEAM FRANCE, AMERICA’S CUP 2017 – France
Antoine Dénériaz, 2006 Winter Olympics Gold Medal Winner (Downhill skiing), Entrepreneur – France
Bruno Dubois, Team Manager, GROUPAMA TEAM FRANCE, AMERICA’S CUP 2017 – France
Franz Linser, Managing Director, LINSER HOSPITALITY; Former Trainer of the Austrian National Ski Team – Austria

Presented and moderated by:
Thierry Malleret, Managing Partner, THE MONTHLY BAROMETER – France

Optimism versus pessimism about tomorrow’s world
Hotel Le Morgan
Restaurant Le Bistrot
Optimism and pessimism are two cognitive biases that play a decisive role in how we perceive the world and how we make decisions. What are the arguments to sustain either optimism or pessimism about the future? What would it take to convince those in one camp to shift position?
Sean Cleary, Executive Vice-Chairman, FUTURE WORLD FOUNDATION – South Africa
Peter Kingsley, Chairman, PJR – United Kingdom
Martin de Waziers, Managing Director, ALPHA OMEGA CAPITAL – Belgium

Presented and moderated by:
Preparing our children for tomorrow’s world

The world is changing fast and irrevocably, throwing up numerous uncertainties for the next generations. What can we do to enable them to grow into strong, resilient, creative, compassionate citizens of the world? As inequalities of opportunity grow, creating in the process a toxic mix of resentment and disenfranchisement, how can we give today’s children, regardless of their origins, a chance to make something of their lives?

Lord David Blunkett, House of Lords; Former Home Secretary – United Kingdom
Atalanti Moquette, Founder and co-Chair, GIVING WOMEN – Switzerland
Michele Petochi, Managing Director, EPFL – Switzerland
Nicolas Sadirac, Executive Director, 42 – France

Moderated by:
Linda Bentley, Operations Director; ICSPA – United Kingdom

The meaning of time

Time’s abstractness and the difficulty of grappling with the notion make it one of the last philosophical frontiers. This session focuses on how we experience time in an era when everything seems to be accelerating. What does it mean to feel in control of one’s time rather than being controlled by it? What is time well spent?

Nicolas Fiéulaine, Associate Professor in Social Psychology, LYON UNIVERSITY – France; Coordinator, INTERNATIONAL NETWORK ON TIME PERSPECTIVE
Louie Schwartzberg, Founder, MOVING ART – United States

Moderated by:
Julien Marchenoir, Strategy and Heritage Director; VACHERON CONSTANTIN – Switzerland

Nightcaps on different topics

The quest for personal happiness: why is it so elusive? Come and find out!

Ravi Chaudhry, Chairman, CENEXT CONSULTING – India

End of the day.

Outdoor activities - and photography

A range of activities (Hiking, Sightseeing, Climbing, Paragliding or Mountain Biking and Canyoning) will be on offer.
During the Get-Together, we will benefit from the presence of a "photographer in residence" (Marina Cavazza). Marina will be available to guide any of our participants who would like to know more about outdoor photography.

13.00 – 13.30

A conversation with Steve Case (via video link)

15.10 – 15.40 Networking Break by Majestic Congress Center

15.40 – 17.10 Interactive sessions in parallel

The Future of Europe

The UK referendum took place at a time when European economic risks were receding while its political risks, particularly populism, were on the rise. Its consequences are unpredictable: the UK’s divorce from the EU will take years to play out. It might throw Europe and the EU into disarray, or do just the opposite by spurring further integration. Panellists in this session help participants understand what’s going on and what’s coming next – both for Europe as a whole and the individual countries that compose it.

Introduced by:
Mark Florman, CEO, TIME PARTNERS – United Kingdom
Philippe Legrain, Founder, OPEN; Senior Visiting Fellow, LONDON SCHOOL OF ECONOMICS’ EUROPEAN INSTITUTE – United Kingdom
Antonis Papagiannis, Managing Editor, ECONOMIA PUBLISHING – Greece
Dennis Snower, President, INSTITUTE FOR THE WORLD ECONOMY – Germany

Moderated by:
Thierry Malleret, Managing Partner, THE MONTHLY BAROMETER – France

Your brain; your gut; your future health... personalized

Leaders in wellness, digestive health, and the human brain share their insights and experiences in suggesting to all of us the most likely path toward our own wellbeing.

Susie Ellis, Chairperson & CEO, GLOBAL WELLNESS INSTITUTE – United States
Hilal Lashuel, Director of the Laboratory of Chemical Biology of Neurodegeneration, EPFL – Switzerland
Linda Lee, Director of Integrative Medicine, JOHN HOPKINS MEDICINE – United States

Moderated by:
Adam Kaufman, Advisor, PATHNORTH – United States

Promoting “Intrapreneurship”

Over 70% of private businesses will transition ownership in the next decade. Of this group of owners, 52% have no formal succession plan, 38% have an informal plan and only 10% have a formalized written succession ready for their business. In the rising generation, very few are interested in taking over while many want to start their own venture. This is where "intrapreneurship" kicks-in: the creation of new and innovative projects led by a member of the rising generation that leverages the financial, human and technical resources of an existing organization. Based on the experience of the Business Families Foundation, this session explores the merits of the idea and makes practical suggestions on how best to go about it.

Ravi Chaudhry, Chairman, CENEXT CONSULTING – India
Olivier Grosse, Vice Président du Conseil de Surveillance, LEON GROSSE – France
Dirk Jungo, Chairman, PITCAIRN – United States
Leadership and resilience
Policy-makers who were at the helm through difficult times discuss candidly what it is to exercise leadership in a fast-moving, complex, interconnected world. They also share their thoughts on what paves the path to leadership in a world where nothing now goes unseen.

Steve Bartlett, Senior Advisor, TRELIANT RISK ADVISORS; Former Member of the US House of Representatives; 56th Mayor of Dallas – United States
Lord (David) Blunkett, House of Lords; Former Home Secretary – United Kingdom
Jose-Maria Figueres, Former President of Costa Rica; President, CARBON WAR ROOM – Costa Rica

Moderated by:
David Tuckett, Psychoanalyst; Centre for the Study of Decision-Making Uncertainty, UCL – United Kingdom

Great ideas whose time has come
Once in a while, a new idea expressed in the form of a policy suggestion, a project or an investment comes up and takes us by surprise with its brilliance or audacity, making us wonder why we hadn’t thought of it before or why it hadn’t emerged earlier. This session serves as a platform for such ideas.

Making every company cyber compliant
John Lyons, CEO, CEDL – United Kingdom

A novel way of investing in frontier markets
Alisée de Tonnac, CEO, SEEDSTARS WORLD – Nigeria

Smart data, not big data: due diligence in frontier markets
Daniel Evans, Managing Director, STORM KING ANALYTICS – United States

The war on drugs: is it over? Experimenting with new and more liberal policies on drugs
Baroness (Molly) Meacher, HOUSE OF LORDS – United Kingdom

The string that binds… is humanism. A grass roots approach
Anni Hood, CEO, WELLNESS BUSINESS CONSULTANCY – United Kingdom

Radically rethinking spaceflight
Jane Poynter, CEO, WORLD VIEW – United States

Making money history – Reinventing the way the world exchanges value
James Fierro, CEO, ECO CAPACITY EXCHANGE – United Kingdom

Ideas Box: restoring dignity to refugees and empowering the most vulnerable worldwide through access to information and culture

Exercise as medicine

Hotel du Mont-Blanc
Restaurant Le Matafan

As the 21st century moves towards ever-more personalized medicine, physical exercise is increasingly identified as amongst the “best preventive drugs” for many common ailments, ranging from psychiatric disorders to heart disease, back pain, diabetics, and possibly even cancer. Discussion leaders detail the evidence, explain how to exercise correctly and highlights how the benefits of exercise can best be harnessed for health, productivity and high performance in the workplace.

Pete McKnight, Coaching and Sports Science Director, HINTSA PERFORMANCE – Switzerland
Neil Maclean-Martin, Director of Physiotherapy, LA CLINIQUE DU SPORT – Chamonix; Human Performance Director, GROUPAMA TEAM FRANCE, AMERICA’S CUP 2017 – France

Russia

Hotel du Mont-Blanc
Salon Mont-Blanc

Making sense of where Russia is going and how to invest in the country is no easy task. Participants discuss candidly how the economics, politics and geopolitics of Russia are likely to affect foreign businesses and Western investors in the coming years.

Dmitri Trenin, Director, CARNEGIE MOSCOW CENTER – Russia

Turkey

Hotel du Mont-Blanc
The Library

Following the failed coup attempt in July, there has been a flurry of comments and interpretations about where the country is heading next. Come and gain genuine insight thanks to an “insider” who understands what the current political turmoil in Turkey means for portfolio and direct investors.

Michael Demirel, CEO, ATA FINANCE GROUP – Turkey

9.00 – 10.15

Interactive sessions in parallel

Majestic Congress Center

Wellness and decision-making

Room Jules Janssen

More and more, prominent investors and business leaders recognize the critical effect that wellness (i.e. exercise, mindfulness, nutrition, sleep, meditation, etc.) has on their ability to make appropriate decisions in an increasingly complex, demanding and interdependent world. Strategy consultants have now jumped on the bandwagon, expressing a “burgeoning interest in wellness”. What do CEOs and investors do? What is the evidence that wellness enhances decision-making and does the science back this up?

Jan-Emmanuel de Neve, Professor of Economics and Strategy, UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD – United Kingdom
Alka Dhillon, CEO, TECHNALINK – United States
Saskia Kunst, Managing Director, SBM OFFSHORE – The Netherlands
Joshua Luckow, Executive Director, CANYON RANCH – United States

Moderated by:
Susie Ellis, Chairperson & CEO, GLOBAL WELLNESS INSTITUTE – United States

The rise in populism – where is it going and when and how will it end?

Room Theodore Bourrit

In both democracies and autocracies the appeal of false prophets resisting change and pushing for populist measures is gaining traction. The global sirens of populism will most likely endure because of the multitude of economic, social and environmental issues that need fixing and that involve tough policy decisions. This will create disconcerting uncertainty for business and investors. Panellists shed light on where the risk is most acute, how this is likely to evolve and how it might affect investment decisions.

Jean-Pierre Lehmann, Emeritus Professor, IMD & HONG KONG UNIVERSITY – Switzerland and Hong Kong
Manuel Muniz, Director of the Program on Transatlantic Relations, HARVARD UNIVERSITY – United States
Antonis Papagiannidis, Managing Editor, ECONOMIA PUBLISHING – Greece
Walter Quattrociocchi, Head of the Laboratory of Computational Social Science, IMT LUCCA – Italy

Moderated by:
Nicholas Davis, Head of Society and Innovation, WORLD ECONOMIC FORUM – Switzerland

Cyber-risks – how to mitigate them and how to invest in the theme?

Cyber risks are ubiquitous and now affect almost every sphere of our existence: companies, institutions, governments and our personal space. At the moment, cyber-attackers seem to have the upper hand over cyber-defenders. What can be done to redress this worrying state of affairs? What are the solutions? Where and how to invest when everybody is leaping on the bandwagon? (Disclaimer: The Monthly Barometer is a shareholder of CEDL)

Lord David Blunkett, House of Lords; Former Home Secretary – United Kingdom
Stephen Head, Chief Security Officer, VIRGIN MONEY – United Kingdom
Steve Holt, Cyber security Partner, E&Y – United Kingdom
Nicolas Sadirac, Executive Director, 42 – France

Moderated by:
John Lyons, CEO, CEDL – United Kingdom

Broadening the definition of success: leaders who focus on meaning and authenticity

How do we find meaning, authenticity and perspective in a fast-paced, competitive, global marketplace so often at odds with a more human approach to leadership? Isolation is often an unintended consequence of success. Members of PathNorth will share personal experiences – both good and bad – encountered on their own path to success. They will address self-reflective topics such as: Who is in your audience? What is your biggest regret? When were you last afraid? And: What will your legacy be?

Christina Alfonso, Founder and CEO, MADEIRA GLOBAL – United States
Dirk Jungé, Chairman, PITCAIRN – United States
Osyris Uqezwa, President, B&C International – United States

Adam Kaufman, Advisor, PATHNORTH – United States
End of The 2016 Get-Together

For those staying on in Chamonix, further outside activities with fellow participants will be organized on Sunday afternoon. As they are weather dependent, we will communicate their precise nature on Saturday 24th September. This post-programme period will extend into the evening and will be primarily driven by serendipity. Watch your app to stay up to speed.
