

THE PROGRAMME

Why the Get-Together? Op-eds, research publications and even newsletters such as The Monthly Barometer are useful, informative and at best insightful; but they can only go so far.... They often provoke the desire to ask a question, to challenge an assumption, but they can't reply and they can't argue! Only personalized quality gatherings respond to this need. They are rare and therefore increasingly valued: in our ever-more digital and virtual world, the need for face-to-face interaction has never been greater.

In the overwhelming complexity of our "hyper-connected", fast-paced world, it is apparent that the answers to such questions as: "What to do?" "How to invest?" "Where and when?" "With whom?" "For which purpose?" are best sought out in unconventional places. Our Get-Together offers just such a place, affording its guests physical exposure to diverse individuals and ideas, based on the "strength of weak ties" and serendipitous encounters.

How can you participate in the programme? Friendliness and informality define the gathering, which combines thinking and learning with mindfulness and discovery. The Get-Together amounts to an ideas fair. The programme is intentionally dense so that you have an abundance of choice and sessions remain small and intimate. To allow maximum interaction between our guests, all elements of the programme are structured as conversations. These are kicked off by an introduction to the issue provided by a prominent thinker or practitioner, but everybody is a speaker. We count on you to stir the pot!

We follow the Chatham House rules: while conscious that today's world is fully transparent, we ask you to remain discrete and not to disseminate the content of The Get-Together. This will guarantee that our conversations remain frank and direct. Provided it is not content or people related, you can be as enthusiastic as you wish on Twitter, Facebook and the like!

The programme is dense for two reasons: (1) It reflects to the maximum possible extent individual preferences you expressed when you registered; (2) It ensures that sessions remain small and thus framed as an interactive conversation.

To guarantee nobody misses out, and in addition to the Summit report that will be sent this year, we will put at your disposal three private meeting rooms. If you'd like to meet some of the speakers of sessions in which you did not participate, please let the staff know and we'll organize this for you.

Why do we go outside? First and foremost because outdoor activities are fun and a great way to spend time with old friends and make new ones. Furthermore, they will benefit the quality of the meeting - research in neuroscience and medicine makes it abundantly clear that exercise in nature provides unparalleled stimulus, physiologically rendering our brains more ready, willing, and able to learn. Lastly, it would be a waste not to take advantage of the exceptional natural environment that Chamonix offers!

Soft Skills Are the New Hard Skills

Theodore Bourrit

Businesses that focus on hard, “vocational”, skills, overlook at their peril the critical relevance of “soft” skills. Interpersonal, leadership, motivational skills and many more are those that matter the most. They often make the difference between a thriving organization and a struggling one. What needs to be done to instil a culture and the practice of “soft” skills among leaders and team members alike?

Predictive Intelligence

Isabella Straton

Predictive intelligence consists in harnessing the resources of big data and AI (Artificial Intelligence) to best predict the probability of an outcome, ranging from consumer behaviour to the forecasting of a geopolitical or financial adverse shock. What are its most common uses? Is there potential for abuse? What’s the best way to invest in predictive intelligence?

The Future of Energy

Theodore Bourrit

The future of energy is an endlessly debated topic, with a flurry of diverging opinions ranging from those who believe in fossils fuels at one end of the spectrum to renewables at the other end, with disruptive new ideas like nuclear fusion somewhere in between. What is required to transition towards a sustainable, secure and affordable energy future?

Lessons From History: The Perils of Wishful Thinking

Edgard Bouillette

Learning from history can illuminate current challenges and choices by analysing historical precedents. It can also offer clues about what might happen in the future. Yet, as human beings, we often fall prey to denial and self-delusion, believing what we want to be true and disregarding the lessons from history. What are currently the greatest dangers of wishful thinking that may impact our lives and investment affairs?

Working Dinners

The Meaning of Time

Hotel Le Prieuré
Restaurant Haute-Savoie

Time's abstractness and the difficulty of grappling with the notion make it one of the last philosophical frontiers. What does it mean to feel in control of our time rather than being controlled by it? What is time well spent?

Etienne Klein, Physicist, CEA – France

Introduced and moderated by:

Martin Elling, Private Investor – Switzerland

Crony Capitalism

Hotel du Mont-Blanc

Champagne Masterclass

Bar

Come and taste Champagne with Alexandre Cattier, whose family has been in the Champagne business for 11 generations. Alexandre is the Chief Winemaker for Champagne Armand de Brignac. He'll share with us some pearls (or rather bubbles) of wisdom on how Champagne can stimulate at least four of our senses.

Alexandre Cattier, Winemaker, CHAMPAGNE CATTIER – France

Introduced by:

Judith Palant, Owner, SERVICES & ENTREPRISES – France

Entrepreneurs with bold ideas

The Library

Sometimes, a new business comes up and takes us by surprise with its audacity or "newness", making us wonder why it hadn't emerged earlier or why we hadn't thought about it before. Come and have a drink with the founders of some such businesses.

New Ideas for dealing with social and economic exclusion

Michel Payot

Global business leaders and private investors increasingly extol the virtues of investing in the community and caring for the disadvantaged. If moral motivation is not enough, self-interest will make up the shortfall: unless more attention is paid to the rumblings of social discontent, some countries run a very real risk of imploding. Where is social stability most at risk? What are the best new ideas for dealing with social and economic exclusion?
